

A close-up photograph of a rock wall completely covered in thick, vibrant green moss. The moss has a dense, textured appearance with some darker green patches and small fern-like plants interspersed. A large, white, stylized letter 'R' is centered on the wall. The lighting is dramatic, with deep shadows in the crevices and bright highlights on the moss's surface.

SUSTAINABLE ART

Bring the beauty of nature into your projects with our 100% made-in-Spain preserved moss. This versatile design element adds a touch of refinement to any space while stabilizing moisture levels and absorbing noise, among other benefits. A low-maintenance material that will ignite your creativity with a diverse range of options including impressive collections and vibrant color offerings. Explore our catalog and discover the endless possibilities that RIVA Moss can bring to your projects.

WHAT IS PRESERVED MOSS?

Preserved moss is real moss that has been organically engineered to be able to maintain its vibrant colors and natural characteristics. All of our moss is sustainably harvested from different forests spanning across Europe. Once the moss has been harvested it undergoes the preservation process which is achieved by soaking the moss in a glycerine solution over several days.

During this time, the glycerin penetrates the cells of the moss replacing the water and effectively preserving its softness and flexibility. The resulting product is a beautiful natural material that can be used for an endless possibilities of designs.

BENEFITS OF USING PRESERVED MOSS

Experience the beauty of nature without worrying about its daily maintenance: Our sustainably-sourced moss has been carefully preserved to retain its vivid colors with no need for watering or sunlight.

Humidity stabilizer: Preserved moss helps you regulate moisture levels.

Improved acoustics: Preserved moss is a great option to efficiently absorb noise from your interior spaces.

Wellness: Studies show that surrounding yourself with a natural environment has a positive impact on your well-being.

BIOPHILIC DESIGN

Join this growing trend and incorporate elements of nature in your interior design. The idea behind the biophilic trend is that connection to nature has multiple benefits for your health and well-being. It creates a harmonious atmosphere while reducing your stress levels and improving your productivity.

MAINTENANCE

Preserved moss is a great way to add greenery to your indoor space without the hassle of watering and maintaining live plants. However, it still requires some maintenance to keep it looking fresh and attractive:

- Avoid direct sunlight
- Avoid physical contact
- Requires relative humidity of 40-60%
- Does not require watering (risk of damaging color & texture)
- Gentle dusting as needed

In the case that the moisture levels drop below the recommended humidity levels, moss will temporarily dry up until restored to proper humidity, it will return to its fresh and flexible self.

TECHNICAL INFORMATION

RIVA Moss panels are constructed using a high quality, stiff foam core board reinforced with an aluminum film, offering a lightweight yet sturdy product. In the case of a curved design, the moss is mounted on a reinforced felt board which allows flexibility.

Panel sizes will vary depending on the proposed design and space (roughly around 24" x 36").

Product is fire resistant to allow for commercial applications (restaurants, hotels, airports, retail stores, etc).

RIVA Moss offers noise absorption properties due to its spongy nature. It is great for office and corporate settings.

Since it is preserved and not living moss, it does not attract bugs nor insects and is also hypoallergenic.
